About the Play:

Two actors are the leads in a streaming television series, in which they play two spies, who are trying to infiltrate an enemy organization by impersonating a jewel thief and his sister/psychiatrist, who is treating the thief's anxiety by role-playing as two actors, who are the leads in a streaming series, etc., ad infinitum.

Inside the separate worlds:

- A. The male actor is having an affair with the show runner's fiancé, threatening the continuation of the series and the actors' roles in it.
- B. The spies are dealing with an unknown traitor in their midst, prompting suspicion and paranoia.
- C. The jewel thief and his accomplices try to pull off a heist while evading a persistent FBI agent.
